Steward Training Level III: The Steward as Leader

The Steward As Leader highlights the basic leadership role of stewards in the local union and the responsibilities that this role entails in the face of a changing union and growing legislative responsibilities. The theme of this course is how to effectively build the union which is fair and inclusive for all members, what kind of commitments and strategies are required from the steward, the executive of the local and the union itself. Legislative responsibilities such as human rights and the duty of fair representation will be highlighted. The Steward As Leader is third in a series of CLC Stewards courses. Participants should already be well grounded in basic stewards training.

Collective Bargaining

This course is primarily designed for participants who have not had a lot of experience or formal training in Collective Bargaining, but who are members of negotiation committees or who deal with selecting bargaining issues and priorities in their unions. In this course, participants will discuss how to deal with preparation for bargaining, including obtaining the members' opinions on important bargaining issues and how to prioritize them.

Time will also be spent on preparing for bargaining by reviewing past bargaining issues, grievances and other information that may be useful in the process. Participants will also look at the structure of negotiations, effective negotiation and bargaining skills, and some collective bargaining language.
